2001 County Data Books

MIDDLETOWN, PA– The Pennsylvania State Data Center at Penn State Harrisburg has announced that the 2001 County Data Books are now available.

The 2001 County Data Books are the most comprehensive source of demographic, housing, and income information about Pennsylvania and its 67 counties. Over 60 tables provide valuable data pertaining to the statistical makeup of the state.

A 2001 County Data Book is available for each county in Pennsylvania. The information is provided in table format for easy use. Data is provided at the state, county, and municipal levels.

The major areas of focus are: Physical Features, Demographics, Housing, Income, Economic Profiles and Employment, and Quality of Life. A reference section provides the user with an up-to-date list of relevant facts about each county.

The 2001 County Data Books are an invaluable asset for planners, businesses, marketing professionals, not-for-profit organizations such as hospitals, libraries, and schools and any data user needing a complete profile of a county or a number of counties.

The 2001 County Data Books are available in paperwork and on CD-ROM (pdf format). A full set on CD-ROM is available for $2,000. They are also available in MSA and non-MSA groupings. Please call or visit our web site for details on pricing. The books may be purchased as a set or individually. Prices and discounts for multiple book purchases are available.

The Pennsylvania State Data Center is the Commonwealth's official source of population and economic statistics and services. It is based at Penn State Harrisburg's Institute of State and Regional Affairs.
